future ocean
KIEL MARINE SCIENCES

New Elective Module (Wahlmodul) for all CAU students

INTERNATIONAL LAW OF MARINE RESOURCES

DATES	Wednesdays 4:00-6:00 p.m.; starts April 5, 2017 (summer semester)
LOCATION	Westring 400, room 3.19
CREDITS	6 ECTS
LECTURER	Erik van Doorn | Walther-Schücking-Institute for International Law

Participants of the course deepen their understanding of substantive public international law and other means of international ocean governance as a basis for the sustainable management of marine resources.

The course offers the opportunity to discuss and analyse issues concerning different aspects of the international regulation of the use of living and non-living marine resources. The main focus is to engage into a discourse on the relevant questions of international legal governance of resource exploitation and conservation. Further topics are e.g. cultural heritage, United Nations institutions or spatial planning.

This module is open to all students enrolled at CAU from all disciplinary backgrounds. Course Language is English. No prior legal knowledge is required.

Find out more about course contents and how to register in UnivIS and OPEN OLAT!

CONTACT edoorn@wsi.uni-kiel.de

C A U Christian-Albrechts-Universität zu Kiel

ifw

muthesius kunsthochschule

GEOMAR